

Centre for Environment, Heritage and Policy Tuesday lunchtime seminar series 2020-21

Instructions for joining our seminars

Until further notice, all seminars will be online and conducted using Microsoft Teams. To receive an invitation to join meetings, please ensure you are on the CEHP mailing list – send your email address to s.m.foster@stir.ac.uk. If you are not part of the University, we can invite you to join Teams as a guest. Meanwhile, please note the dates in your diaries – the electronic calendar invites will follow nearer the time. You can ask to leave the mailing list at any time.

All meetings run from 13:00 to 13:55 hrs.

Autumn semester 2020

29 September	Zoe Russell Sociology, Social Policy and Criminology/Heritage University of Stirling	Moving beyond ‘common-sense’ discourses of nature and heritage in the Scottish Highlands
20 October	Professor Nina Parish French & Francophone Studies University of Stirling	Remembering homeland and representing diaspora in virtual museums (or now to conduct fieldwork during lockdown)
10 November	Dr Bashir Saade Religion & Politics University of Stirling	‘The time is out of joint’: memory, geopolitics, and the ambivalent temporalities of Hizbullah's Resistance Tourism Museum, Lebanon
1 December	Hanneke Booij Heritage University of Stirling	Social media research relating to the resilience of small heritage organisations during the pandemic

Spring semester 2021

9 February	Dr Mona Moufahim Stirling Management School University of Stirling	Pilgrimage, consumption and rituals: spiritual authenticity in a Shia Muslim pilgrimage
23 February	Dr Sarah Govan Institute of Geography and the Lived Environment University of Edinburgh	The past in the present: history, policy and the Scottish landscape
9 March	Molly Miller Edinburgh College of Art	‘Brought alive and alight’: community reuse of Scottish churches
23 March	Sarah Watts Biological and Environmental Sciences University of Stirling	Bringing back the ‘wee trees’: upland habitat restoration at Scotland’s natural treeline
6 April	Dr Michael Penman History University of Stirling	City development contested: Patrick Geddes, heritage and civic improvement in Dunfermline (1904)

Centre for Environment, Heritage and Policy
Tuesday lunchtime seminar series 2020-21

Summer semester 2021

18 May	Dr Kirsten Jenkins Science, Technology and Innovation Studies Group School of Social and Political Sciences University of Edinburgh Chair: Dr Clemens Hoffmann, Politics	The past, present and future of energy justice
1 June	Dr Robyn Raxworthy formerly Environment and Sustainability Institute University of Exeter Chair: Dr Jennie Morgan, Heritage	Excavating the archive in Cornwall's china clay country: Heritage-making practices and rethinking the role of dissonance in times of change

Supporting the work of the Cultural Heritage and Extreme Events Research Programmes

Further information from Sally Foster s.m.foster@stir.ac.uk

For updates and other Centre-related events of possible interest, please check here