MSc
Social Work Studies

1st IN THE UK FOR SOCIAL WORK
(Times and Sunday Times Good University Guide 2020)

Be Stirling
BE THE DIFFERENCE
Our MSc Social Work Studies provides you with an integrated academic and professional course which develops the intellectual and practical skills necessary for professional practice as a social worker.

We promote an understanding of social work which is informed by social justice and human rights, a profession that acknowledges the links between ‘public issues’ and ‘private troubles’ and seeks to address both. We value social work practice that has prevention at its heart and recognises the importance of collective approaches, actively engaging with and learning from users.

Our course is taught by qualified social workers including world leaders in their research field, and academics who maintain close connections with practice. You will experience inspirational contributions to teaching by people who have used social work services as well as from practising social workers.

The course includes two full time placements, where you’ll be supported and assessed by Practice Educators who are qualified or undertaking their Practice Educator training.

Do you want a career that is stimulating, rewarding and makes a positive contribution to society? If so social work could be for you. The University of Stirling is ranked 1st in the UK for Social Work (Times and Sunday Times Good University Guide 2020) and is led by our expert teaching staff.

During your studies you’ll undertake two full-time supervised practice placements which give you the opportunity for classroom-based teaching to be applied in practice. We’re fortunate to have strong connections with our partner agencies within a 60-mile radius of the University. They provide a range of placements across both statutory and voluntary social work services.

Placements take place in semester two (75 days) and in the summer period between semesters 3 and 4 continuing into semester 4 (95 days).

At the end of your studies, you’ll qualify as a social worker who is knowledgeable, skilled, analytical and ethical in your approach to working with individuals, families, groups and communities.

Successful completion of the Postgraduate Diploma or the MSc allows graduates to register as qualified social workers. The qualification will equip you to work in a variety of settings including local authority social work teams, prisons, hospitals, residential services and voluntary sector settings. The nature of the work is varied and there are opportunities to move between work settings throughout your career.

Five Reasons
YOU SHOULD CHOOSE THIS COURSE

1. We’re ranked 1st in the UK for Social Work (Times and Sunday Times Good University Guide 2020).

2. Good quality practice learning opportunities give students the chance to undertake social work practice in supervised learning environments.

3. Successful completion of the course will mean you’re eligible to register with Scottish Social Services Council as a qualified social worker.

4. Inspirational contributions to teaching by our ‘Unity’ group members who are people with experience of using social work services.

This course enables you to achieve an integrated academic and professional qualification. It provides you with opportunities to develop the intellectual and interpersonal skills necessary for professional practice as a social worker.

The course is delivered through lectures incorporating small group discussion, student-led project work, and micro-skills teaching workshops.

The taught course consists of nine modules which include two periods of full-time supervised and assessed practice in social work settings. All students have a personal tutor throughout the course. The MSc dissertation involves undertaking empirical research exploring a social work related issue of your choice.

Your learning is greatly assisted by the contribution to teaching and practice learning of staff from local voluntary and statutory agencies. You’ll also benefit from contributions by service users and carers and from the range of research and teaching interests within the Faculty of Social Sciences, in which Social Work is located.

Particular strengths and areas of interest include adult support and protection, child protection, children and families and alternative care, international and green social work, community engagement, child exploitation, risk and decision making, domestic violence, ethical and socially just practice, practice education, service user involvement.

University courses, services and procedures are continually reviewed, enhanced and revised, and this may result in some changes between the time of publication and the date when the student enters the University. Where any changes will affect an applicant, the University will keep the applicant fully informed.
A minimum of a second class Honours degree (2:1 preferred) in a relevant subject or equivalent is required.

Paid, voluntary or personal experience of social work, social care or related activity is essential. Registration with the Scottish Social Services Council (SSSC) is a requirement for starting and remaining on the course. Further information on how to apply will be provided to successful applicants who accept a place on the course. Enrolled students must also be a member of the Protection of Vulnerable Groups Scheme.
